

In logistics, you don't measure your success... your customers do.

Understanding your customers' demands is simple enough, but meeting them is a daunting challenge. Delivering what you've promised, when you've promised is key to your business success and your ERP solution should help you do just that.

Ask yourself:

- Are your delivery times as good as they could be – and as good as your competitors?
- Can you tell customers at every point of the dispatch process where their goods are?
- Do you always deliver exactly the right goods at exactly the right time?
- Can your production and delivery processes 'speak' to each other?

Sage ERP X3 can help you answer all of these questions.

Don't just take our word for it. Here's what one of our Business Partners has to say about the benefits of using Sage ERP X3.

"The JF Hillebrand project to implement Sage ERP X3 at Trans Ocean Bulk Logistics presented a real test for the power and versatility of X3. It was essential to achieve a rapid international roll-out to meet the customer's needs and to demonstrate a quantifiable return on investment. Sage ERP X3 has exceeded expectations and is now delivering real business benefit."
